

MARKS & SPENCER SIMPLY FOOD

CHEQUE IT OUT . . . staff at Marks & Spencer in Milngavie, Geraldine O'Donnell, Janice Clancy, and Angie Gallagher handed over a cheque worth £1002 to Jackie McDonald (second left) from the Davie Cooper Centre recently. The Davie Cooper Centre is a charity which was set up by Bearsden woman Jackie to build a centre in Clydebank for children with disabilities and learning difficulties. The staff at Marks & Spencer raised the cash by selling cake and candy and taking donations in collection cans at the tills with member of staff, Craig Watters, walking the West Highland Way. Jackie said: "It means a lot to have support from the local community and our heartfelt thanks go to Marks & Spencer, to Geraldine for originally nominating our charity, all the staff who helped raise the money and of course to the general public who filled the cans."
